ABOUT

Solide Decentralized finance blockchain protocol (doing business as Solide pronounced Solid) is a blockchain protocol focused on blockchain capital markets with a core focus on banking blockchain projects and products through capital introduction through the protocol. Solide Defi Protocol was founded on the idea that on-chain organizations are underbanked and the protocol has been focused on increasing its inventory of on-chain products as they reach more clients making decentralized finance expansive and inclusive. Solide is focused on making Defi products accessible and inclusive. Decentralized finance has been mostly focused on building decentralized exchanges leaving a large portion of the industry underbanked especially with investment neglecting the growth of on chain companies and organisations this includes DAOs, Protocols and Products.

Defi is central to the growth of a booming blockchain economy especially in the niche of blockchain investment banking, tokenization and implementation of core banking products.

Solide core business is focused on inventing, creating and deploying Defi products that can be used by everyday people using smart contracts.
